Title: The Concepts of Population and Urbanization in developing Nations
Author(s): Amoo Emmanuel O
Outlet: Books and Chapters in Books (Accepted for publication): In (ed.) Abimbola, O.A Readings on Understanding Sociology. Department of Sociology, Covenant University, Ota, Nigeria (Accepted for Publication).
Date: 2013
Abstract: The chapter provides understanding of the concepts of demography. It is an appreciation text meant to impart the beginners and visitors in demography and population studies the knowledge of describing demographic processes in population growth and urbanization. Specifically, it is make readers appreciate demographic processes as fundamental ingredients for a sustainable society. The chapter provides insight and understanding of interrelationship between population processes and societal issues. Readers should be able to able to discuss the dimensions of the population growth and realities confronting developing countries.