Abstract:

Research helps counselors to improve their professional skills and understanding through the verification of the efficiency and efficacy of practices in counseling. The trends of counseling research in Botswana from publications of staff in counseling, the research projects of students within and outside the country seem to focus mainly on the direction and development Guidance and Counselling in Botswana. The other areas of focus were highlighted. The need for more research in counseling in Botswana was discussed