Title of Article: Improving Career Services in Botswana Through Career Resource Centres.

Authors: Alao, A. A.

Date of Publication: 2003

Abstract:

The study investigated the nature of career activities provided by institutions in Botswana. Data from 126 institutions revealed that career activities and services in institutions in Botswana appeared adequate in areas such as skills in writing job application/cover letter, self-knowledge, career talk and individual career counselling and group counselling. Inadequate career activities were observed in areas such as vocational testing, field trip/site visit or career tour, job shadowing/on the job learning experience, job placement and the use of computer in career/guidance services. The paper recommended the establishment of Career Resource Centres to foster career services and activities in the country.
