Title of Article: Empowering Women as an Alternative Mechanism in Resolving Crisis: The Niger Delta Experience

Author(s): Chinonye Okafor

Date of Publication: 2009

Abstract: The study examined how the empowerment of women can serve as an alternative mechanism in resolving crisis in the Niger Delta, Nigeria. The study showed that the involvement of women in decision making process can act as an alternative mechanism for crisis resolution. The paper recommended the provision of microfinance, training and development programmes and formulation of policies that will enhance involvement of women’s participation in political, social and economic decision making process.