Title of Article: Parents as a Potent Agents for Students Career Education and Development

Author(s): Chinonye Okafor

Abstract: The paper examined role of parents in determining their children’s career education and development. It showed career choice is one of the most complex decision a student has to make in life and parents have a lot to do with students’ career development. To avoid wrong counseling and advice, parents are advise to go for training to learn more about child psychology and physiological issues so as to make positive contributions to their career education and development.