1. BLD524

1.1. BLD524: Specification Writing (2 Units)

This course is designed to give the students not only a good practice in specifying building materials and components, but also in judicious choice of same to satisfy a particular design objectives for example cost wise: Purpose and form of the specification. Principles of specification writing in line with the sections in the latest standard methods of measurement of building works (BESMM).