ECN327 Research Methodology in Economics (3 Units)

Department of Economics

Covenant University
1. ECN327
1.1. ECN327 Research Methodology in Economics (3 Units)

This essentially, an introductory approach to economic research. Topics to be covered include; the scientific method as a basis for economic analysis, the formulation and testing of hypothesis and economic models, interpretation and presentation of empirical results, including their appraisal as well as comparison of different economic research methods.