1. MAC424
1.1. MAC424 Development Communication (2 Units)

This Course explores the role of various media of mass communication for achieving growth and development in National life. It involves the application of the theories of Communication in proffering solutions to development issues.