SOC218 Sociology of Education (2 Units)

Department of Sociology

Covenant University
1. SOC218

1.1. SOC218 Sociology of Education (2 Units)

This is an introduction to sociological theories/research about education in modern societies, effects of education on beliefs/values, effects of school characteristics on students achievement and educational attainment, education and inequality, cross-national differences in education systems, the link between education and national economic performance, organizational characteristics of schools and prospects for school reform.