SOC224 Social Psychology II (2 Units)

Department of Sociology

Covenant University
1. SOC224
1.1. SOC224 Social Psychology II (2 Units)

The course is a continuation of SOC214. It introduces students to the concept of social movement and the various approaches to the study of this concept. The following concepts are also to be examined: values, attitudes, prejudice, discrimination, stereotypes and how they operate in shaping behaviour in society.