

Understanding How to Be Led by the Spirit
A Message Delivered By Pastor Promise Omidiora
at Thursday Chapel Service, March 1, 2018

Except you are led by the spirit of God, destiny is at risk. God is the maker of destiny, so He best understands how it should run (Proverbs 14:12; Proverbs 16:25). Not all ways are God's way. Except we are led by the spirit of God, we cannot fulfil destiny.

The Holy Spirit is the custodian of God's plan on the earth; without His help you cannot carry out your divine assignment. So, we need the Holy Spirit to guide our destinies into fulfilment (Joel 2:28).

Nobody is exempted from the leading of the Holy Spirit, only Him can guide any destiny into fulfilment (Lamentation 3:37).

After salvation, the next best experience is divine guidance. We need to consciously go after divine guidance (Acts 13:1-2).

There is something God has called each one of us into and we need the spirit of God to guide us into it. Life is bigger than anyone's head. We need the Holy Spirit's guidance to see us through.

Apostle Paul, for instance, came last in his dispensation, yet he was the first.

The Holy Spirit is a speaking spirit (John 16:12). He is also a showing spirit (John 16:13). The leading of the spirit takes us to the place of exploits (Acts 16:19-20).

It takes the Holy Ghost, who is the speaking spirit, to guide each one of us into all truths. When you hear from Him and see, you will be empowered to walk in your vision. Your doubts will clear and you will be sure of what you're doing.

The reason we are in doubt is because we have not heard Him. When you see and hear Him, doubt dies automatically. Life would be messed up without the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

When we arrive at the leading of the Spirit of God, we can no longer miss our way and no opposition can withstand you anymore (Psalm 23:1).

However, obedience to God makes us arrive early to His plans and purpose for us. We must strive to obey every instruction received from the Lord with promptness.

Each time we refuse to walk in His leading, disasters happen (Isaiah 42:18-24; Psalm 82:5). Destiny is not secure without the leading of God. But when God shows you the way, all oppositions die.
